Presents

Memos to Obama: Prospects for Peace and Justice

Rabbi Michael Lerner

When: Monday, April 27, 2009 12:30-2 p.m.

Where: University Ballroom 168A&B.

Rabbi Michael Lerner is editor of Tikkun, a progressive Jewish Interfaith magazine. Born in Newark N.J., he was a national leader of the anti-war movement in the 1960s, chair of the Berkeley chapter of Students for a Democratic Society, a fierce supporter of non-violence and marched with Martin Luther King, Jr. He has written 11 books, including The Politics of Meaning, Spirit Matters, Jewish Renewal, Healing Israel/Palestine, a 2006 national best-seller entitled The Left Hand of God: Taking Back our Country from the Religious Right, and Blacks and Jews: Let the Healing Begin, co-authored with Cornel West.

This lecture is co-sponsored by Provost's Office, WPUNJ Asian Studies Program, and Departments of Women's Studies, Anthropology, Political Science and the Race and Gender Project
