- Undertake a new Facilities Master Plan for the decade of 2014-2024 to ensure that the University's facilities support its evolving academic programming, planned enrollment growth and technological needs;
- Address the University's needs for additional smart classrooms, student common space and offices. In 2012, the University will prepare an academic zone mini-master plan of the main campus corridor and determine the order of renovation of Hunziker Hall, Hunziker Wing, Raubinger Hall, Shea Center for the Performing Arts and the Wightman Gymnasium as well as plan for better utilization of the space now occupied by the Coach House;
- Utilize a traffic study begun in Fall 2011 to analyze traffic patterns to determine if a redesign of major access points and internal drives is appropriate and assess how best to locate and fund a new parking garage;
- Accelerate the renovation and maintenance of selected critical facilities projects over the next several years, including new roofs on the Shea Center, Cheng Library and Wightman Gym as well as improvements to the Shea Performance space, the Hobart Hall television production facilities and music practice rooms; and
- Modernize existing residence halls and possible construction of additional residences to provide about one-third of undergraduate students with an opportunity to reside on campus.
