Student Spotlight

NAME: Conor Labita
YEAR: Senior
MAJOR: Professional Sales Major
BRANCH: United States Marine Corps

"I would say that the military, and the Marine Corps has given me a code, an ethos to live by. It has given me the ability to handle stress, focus on tasks, and see them through until completion. Joining the Marine Corps at 18 forced me to grow up much faster than my peers and I think that put me ahead in a sense. Being able to handle stress, and high pressure situations rather easily is what has benefitted me the most in the civilian side of things. Joining the military was the best decision I ever made, and it has helped me in ways that I cannot put into words. "

Conor won the First Place in Speed Selling Competition in Russ Berrie Institute's 11th Annual National Sales Challenge and also Conor is one of the De Blasi scholarship recipients this year. The Robert & Marie De Blasi Scholarship is designated for a full or part time student who is a U.S. military veteran, maintains a minimum GPA of 3.0 and demonstrate financial need.
