

Spring 2017 Professional Writing Workshops

Strengthen your writing: a skill needed across all industries.

Whether the job you have now requires you to possess above-average writing skills, you are a professional writing looking to expand your expertise, or you simply enjoy creating stories through poetry, essays, or fiction—the Professional Writing courses at the School of Continuing and Professional Education can help you reach your writing goals.

Try our latest offering: a 2-Hour One-on-One Writing Session with instructor Judy Hall to help students with essay writing and review possible topics covered in the Common Core Praxis. Pick a Saturday that works for YOUR schedule and get the focused attention you desire.

Career Counseling: 2-Hour Writing Session

A one-on-one session that can be personalized to your writing needs.

When: Saturdays from 10:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

View more information and register: <http://bit.ly/W048Sp17>.

If one-on-one isn't your style, try one of these workshops instead:

What's Your Story?

In a two day, intensive workshop we will delve into your memory and start writing true stories.

When: Saturday, April 22 and 29, 2017 from 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

View more information and register: <http://bit.ly/W044Sp17>.

You Said What?

How can you differentiate your characters through dialogue alone?

When: Saturday, May 6 and 13, 2017 from 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m.

View more information and register: <http://bit.ly/W045Sp17>.

For more information, please contact Johanna Prado at pradoj2@wpunj.edu.