

AFRICANA WORLD STUDIES FUNDING OPPORTUNITY

Do you have an idea for research?

The Department of Africana World Studies is interested in helping you get started and will fund your idea or project.*

Africana World Studies encompasses the study of cultures, politics, and histories of peoples of African origin in Africa and in the African diaspora. At the core of Africana World Studies is a systematic way of studying religion, sociology, culture, cultural expression and history throughout the world. It is essentially an examination of the black experience on a global and international level: the impact of peoples of Africa on society all over the world, and the impact of different societies on peoples of African descent.

Because of its interdisciplinary nature, Africana World Studies is both broad and specific, and is fertile ground for academic research and scholarship at many levels. The discipline itself gives rise to enduring themes and questions across the humanities, social and natural sciences, and the arts.

Deadline for Submissions:
On-going for Summer &
Fall 2013

Please see department secretary for the application. Application is a must!*

FOR MORE INFORMATION AND TO SUBMIT YOUR PROPOSALS CONTACT:

The Student Undergraduate Research in Africana World Studies is an effort to:

- Introduce undergraduate students to research constructs and methodologies;
- Develop skills of inquiry and critical thinking;
- Foster engagement between students and faculty;
- Increase student and faculty interactions outside the classroom;
- Add to the nature of study across disciplines;
- Model the role of the student/scholar

The program is open to all students in all majors at the University. Preference will be given to students who major or minor in Africana World Studies.

PROFESSOR DANIELLE WALLACE (WALLACED12@WPUNJ.EDU) EXT. 3026
SHERRY CAPERS-DOCK (CAPERSDOCKS@WPUNJ.EDU) EXT. 3027