Big Trends on

These sophisticated styles make a great first impression both on and off campus.
Campus

Students, take note of these fashionable collegiate-wear trends that are perfect for class, internships or socializing at the clubs. Purple and gray is a must-do combination for dressy occasions, while neon orange and lime green give casual wear a unique pop of color. Native American patterns, textured prints and relaxed styles are all signature looks for the latest fall wardrobes.

WHY'S NOT TO WEAR

For great style advice, check out The Fashion Minute (www.thefashionminute.com), a blog by William Paterson University intern and fashion advisor Kelly Moran. “I created my website,” she says, “to share my passion for fashion and my budget-conscious yet trendy finds with others.” Moran takes runway and celebrity looks and offers affordable alternatives that can be found at local retail and online stores. She also offers practical advice about how clothes should fit different body types, what colors work with particular complexions, how to wear accessories and where to find the latest coupon codes and sales.

Here are a few of her tips for fall 2011...

KELLY MORAN’S FALL ACCESSORY PREVIEW:

CUFF BRACELETS
Expect to see these timeless pieces in silver, gold or copper tones with smooth and textured designs creating a sophisticated arm candy.

PIH-N-PH-SIZE POUCHES
Less is more this season. Designers are stepping away from bedazzled, printed and logo bags and going with a more simplistic palette of eye-popping colors.

HIGH-HEELED LOAFERS
An autumn must-have, loafers have gotten a makeover to transform the once preppy kicks into a modern heel ideal for any occasion. Pair them with knee high socks, tights, leggings or flare jeans for a retro look.

ANKLE-STRAPPED HEELS
Providing a 1970’s vibe, designers are adding a modern touch with lots of bling, bold colors and fierce prints.

HOT COLORS FOR FALL
Red (dark shades to add subtle color to an outfit); Silver (provides a futuristic vibe to accessories making them a sure standout); Cobalt (regal tones make for polished and refined designs); Pale Pink (for a romantic feel).
